If You're Happy and You Know It by Child's Play

If You're Happy and You Know It is song made into a boardbook. It even has the music printed on the back of the book. This is a great book to introduce a child to books and reading. It provides an opportunity to connect pleasant activities (singing and moving) with books.

Songs help children develop listening skills and pay attention to the rhythms and rhymes of spoken language. Most songs have a different note for each syllable. This helps children break down words so they hear individual sounds in a word. This is an important pre-reading skill.

Singing also helps children learn new words and adds to their general knowledge. Singing slows down language so children can hear different parts of words and notice how they are alike and different. Clapping along to rhythms helps children hear the syllables in words, and it helps them practice motor skills.

The Movement Activity is the actions you perform that go along with songs or rhymes. As your baby gets older he will enjoy participating in the movement activity with you. Movement activities help your child's memory and language skills. It, also, aids in the development of gross motor skills and hand and eye coordination. Movement activities help stimulate your child's brain development by providing practice for the brain's responsiveness to repetitive, rhythmic input.

Ways to use If You're Happy and You Know It

- ❖ Read it straight through.
- ❖ Sing the book (The tune is on the back. If you cannot read music there are lots of videos of librarians on Youtube singing this song.). Remember, it does not matter if you cannot sing; your baby will enjoy hearing your voice because he loves you!
- ❖ When your baby is about 6 months old try encouraging basic movements that go with this book. Until then, you can do the activity when your child is in a car seat or swing.
- ❖ Look through the book with your baby and talk about the pictures. Describe the clothes the babies in the book are wearing, count the toys in the book, make the noises of the animals on the pages, and point out the colors. Infants can only see in black and white for the first few months. Wait until your child is about 6 months old before talking about colors. Your baby will begin to see in bright colors around 4 months, but by 6 months he will be able to see all colors.
